Mohammedans are fighting Hindus in India as usual. Mohammedans cooked some beef, which horrified Hindus, by whom the cow and all its relations are held sacred.

Madame Tilly, Turkish woman, tells the Ethical Culture Society that Turkey don't like Kemal Pasha's methods. He is Europeanizing Turkey too suddenly, and Turks are determined to remain Turks.

Kemal follows the methods of Peter the Great, who found himself ruler of Russia, an Asiatic country, and made it European. The Russians wanted to remain Russians, but he wouldn't let them, and compelled even old men to cut off their long beards. Some said that because he could not grow a good beard of his own.

A big New York bank that shut down, with its many branches, recently, is lent tens of millions without security. Some of its own directors were among those that brought it down.

Mr. Mitchell, chairman of the New York National City Bank, tells Congress that payment of the soldiers' bonus amounting to nearly four thousand million dollars, would cause "hundreds of small bank failures."

It is suggested in Washington that a compromise can be reached. President Hoover consents to a fund of ten million dollars to be paid out of the Treasury.

It is financial anarchy and worse to suggest it, but why must the government print bonds, and sell them at prices comparable to investors and chop the value of all existing bonds?

Why not let the Federal Reserve print money, perfectly good currency, hand it to the soldiers and say: "Go ahead and spend it and increase productivity. We need it more than in our national game and those chips are money."

With many people looking for work, and food, the government worrying about money to pay the soldiers, there is a lot of money in Wall Street. About 500 millions will be paid out in the next few days, more than half a billion.

The Nation Belge in Brussels has solved mysterious deaths among the Belgians by the fact that the Meuse valley last December. Lungs of the dead were eaten out by breathing a sulphurous unyielding. Sulphurous fumes, from a chemical factory, came with the fog to form an acid that destroyed the lung cells.

At Lunenburg, N. S., Capt. Cluett, commander of a British tank runner, killed by United States Guard, was buried Sunday.

The Rev. Major Hyder, British officer at the front, said the captain's death was "nothing more or less than a martyrdom, one of the inevitable tragedies that have befallen the British."

Then Mohammedans threw the best into Hindu temples. The Hindus, for revenge, threw dead dogs into the Mohammedan mosques, greatest insult you can offer a Mohammedan.

Hindus won't eat beef. Mohammedans won't eat pork. Englishmen eat both and poke Mohammedans and Hindus.

GREENOUGH'S BARE PLOT

JURORS TOLD HOW TO REJECT STORY OF HIS LIGHT FROM TAIL

The Garrett jury took the case for deliberation at exactly 1 p. m.

Judge Patrick M. Keating completed a three-hour and-15-minute charge to the jury at the Garrett trial at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

After reading of the court's rulings on motions of defense counsel, he dismissed the jurors for lunch in custody of two deputy sheriffs at 1:30 o'clock.

At least at the beginning of the remarks he instructed the jurors with relation to what they might consider with regard to Oliver B. Garrett's "denial" of the jurisdiction of this court "his failure to appear for trial last June."

"If you find that he departed knowingly from the jurisdiction of this court, to avoid trial in a criminal case in which he was a defendant, that would be evidence of consciousness of guilt."

It will be for the jury to decide whether it believes the former police officer's testimony as to his reasons for failing to appear, the judge said, "and it will be for you to say if it appears, other evidence, that he intended to avoid trial."

Judge Keating preceded his instructions by directing verdicts of not guilty on five of the seven counts in the indictment charging Mrs. Florence H. Garrett with aiding in the commission of a felony, and by directing verdicts of not guilty on 25 of the 45 counts of the indictment against Miss Lillian V. Hatch.

As the case went to the jury, there are the charges against the defendants: Garrett—Conspiracy to extort, one count; accepting bribes, 30 counts.

Mrs. Garrett—Conspiracy to extort, one count; aiding in the commission of a felony, two counts.

Miss Hatch—Conspiracy to extort, one count; aiding in the commission of a felony, 33 counts.

JURY SEATED

Judge Keating allowed the jury to remain seated during his charge because of the length of time he expected to require.

A large crowd was on hand to witness the case go into the hands of the jury. Oliver B. Garrett, the defendant, was seen in the crowd. He was seen in the crowd. He was seen in the crowd.

Following the report of "no bill" by the Grand Jury, it was announced at the courthouse that the case would be released immediately. He was arrested January 30 and held in Charles at 10.

President Says the Measure Would Prove Menace to Self-Government

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Hoover stepped into the relief appropriation dispute today with a detailed defense of the administration's opposition to federal aid.

JURY TELLS GURRY TO CONSIDER GARRETT'S EIGHT FROM TRIAL

Jurors Must Say If His Act Showed Consciousness of Guilt on His Part

JURY MUST DECIDE

"Now, if you find that he departed from the jurisdiction of the court and in a criminal case to avoid trial in a criminal case, that would be evidence of consciousness of guilt on his part. It would not be conclusive evidence; it would be evidence to him to explain."

"You heard his evidence as to the reason why he departed from the jurisdiction of the court and why he did not surrender until November."

AS TO CONSPIRACY

Court instructed that if the jury found that there was a conspiracy entered into by the two men within six years before the finding of the indictments, then they would be guilty of the conspiracy charge. Conspiracy being a combination of two or more persons by concerted action entering into an agreement for unlawful purpose.

WHOM TO BELIEVE

"...and so it became necessary for you to believe Sullivan or whether you believe Garrett. You have seen both on the stand and you have observed their manner of testifying."

"He said if the jury found Sullivan testified under oath and made inconsistent statements they might take that into consideration."

"He said if the jury found Sullivan testified under oath and made inconsistent statements they might take that into consideration."

QUESTION OF TRUTH

"He referred to the argument that Sullivan was a perjurer and that Garrett benefited by his perjury. But the important question for you to determine is whether at the time the testimony of Sullivan is true or whether Garrett's testimony is true."

BANK DEPOSITS

"If the jury finds the two men not guilty of conspiracy then it must also find Garrett not guilty of the charge, the court instructed. Because you must have more than one person involved to make a finding of guilty on a charge of conspiracy."

"The jury must decide between the opinions of the two witnesses, experts as to whether Garrett signed documents belonging to Sullivan as to his wife's bank accounts, Judge Kestling said."

AS TO GRATUITIES

"It will be for you to say if the source of income was true and how much the source of income was."

"Again, he said if the jury found that the alleged conspiracy between Garrett and Sullivan took place in the period of 1924 and 1925, as related to the money held by them before that date, and if it is for you to say if there is strong independent evidence tending to show an impending conspiracy."

"As to the independent charges Garrett in 1925 with accepting money from Judge Kestling, it was possible for the jury to find him guilty or not guilty on one or more or all counts."

CURLEY OPENS 2 NEW SCHOOLS

Structure in Brighton to Cost $800,000, One in Dorchester $600,000

Mayor Curley took no time today in clearing the decks for construction of two intermediate schools, one costing $800,000, to be erected in Brighton, and the other costing $600,000, in Dorchester.

He ordered that plans be drawn with all possible dispatch. The plans for the Brighton school were submitted to Albion S. Curley, Jr., in instruction to have them ready for advertising within 30 days.

Richard J. Lane, chairman of the Brighton School Building Committee, said that he will select an architect to draft plans for the Dorchester school.

Mayor Curley gave orders for top speed to meet school needs and to relieve unemployment.

He expressed pleasure over the prompt and unanimous action of school committees last night when it voted to postpone plans for a girls high school to $1,115,000.

Deferring of the girls high school will cost the city $200,000 set aside for it to be used for the two new intermediate schools. The difference between that and the total cost of $1,400,000 to be drawn from general school funds in reserve.

Curley said that he was confident that the city would be able to meet the cost of the new schools.

UNITARIANS PLEAD TO ABOLISH LAW AGAINST BLASPHEMY

Hands Up for Dude Bandit

UP LIKE THIS went Isadore Raskin's hands when a bandit dressed like a fashion plate pulled a gun on him in Israel Elkind's grocery store, in Roxbury, and told him to "Stick 'em up." The bandit's shabby companion took $20 from the cash register, and the two gunmen left while Isadore was still wondering who the fashionable gentleman was. (Staff photo.)

WOODS EXPECTS FASHION PLATE BANDIT HERE

Washington, Feb. 3 (INS)—America will emerge from the present business depression and again march forward on the road of prosperity without any decline in the standards of living, Col. Arthur Woods, chairman of the President's emergency employment committee, declared today.

Improved standards of living, for which the people of the United States have striven for years, will continue to be the country's goal, according to Woods, who does not anticipate general reductions of wage scales.

Within the last few months a few authorities have expressed the opinion there must be a lowering of living standards and wage scales in order to bring the country out of the depression. It is the belief of Woods, undoubtedly shared by President Hoover and other leaders, that such will not be the case.

REP. SAWYER LEADS DRIVE

Other Ministers Appear in Favor of His Bill Before the Legislative Committee

The archaic law, under which strong-talking Puritans had their tongues pierced with red-hot irons and under which Unitarian ministers can now be jailed or fined, faced oblivion today.

With Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, a Congregational minister leading the charge, a fight was opened before the legislative committee on house affairs to wipe the ancient blasphemy law off the statute books.

Several Unitarian ministers were among those who appeared for Sawyer's bill and spoke against the old law, which has been utilized only once or twice in several decades.

Unitarian ministers can be jailed or fined under the law because they preach the Unitarian doctrine which admits of no final judgment by God when the world shall cease to exist.

SAWYER'S ARGUMENT

In his argument, Rep. Sawyer told the committee that the two clerics, Amos A. Holmes, Virginia, and Massachusetts, adopted laws originally punishing blasphemy with death—Virginia in 1811 and this State in 1866.

In 1897 the Massachusetts code was amended so that "imprisonment until they find reason for good behavior, and by sitting in the pillory, by whipping, by having through the tongue with a red hot iron, and by sitting on the gallows with a rope around the neck, at the discretion of the court."

The law was further softened in 1892 to read:

"Imprisonment not exceeding 12 months, by sitting in the pillory, by sitting on the gallows with a rope around the neck, by whipping and by binding for good behavior, at the discretion of the court."

A further modification was made in 1913, to give the court discretion to change any of the existing forms of punishment in three months, solitary confinement or five years at hard labor.

In 1928 it was again changed to two years in the county jail, or one year and a fine of $500.

AS IT READS NOW

A later, and last, change made the law read:

"Whoever wilfully blasphemes the Holy Name of God, by denying, cursing or contemptuously reproaching God, His creation, government or final judging of the world, or by gathering or contemptuously reproaching Jesus Christ, or by cursing or contemptuously reproaching the Holy Ghost, or by contumaciously and irreverently using or abusing the name of God, or of the Holy Trinity, or of the Holy Scriptures, shall be punished by imprisonment in jail for not more than $500, and may be bound to good behavior."

Some of those who supported Representative Sawyer in his bill were former Mayor Robert Batesman of Peabody, the Rev. Smith C. Taylor of the Unitarian Church, Concord; the Rev. Robert W. Jones of the Unitarian Church, and Prof. Clarence R. Skinner of Tufts.

CAMPBELL CALLS CANNON TRIED SPEED TEST OFF IN SECRET

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 3 (AP)—Poor visibility and a strong wind today prevented Capt. Malcolm Campbell, British race car driver, from making an official attempt to lower the world's land speed record of 211 miles an hour.

After making a fast run over the course in a passenger car, Campbell announced conditions were not adverse for a record attempt, but that he would make an exhibition run in his Bluebird racing machine as fast as conditions would permit.

"The beastly wind is too strong and the visibility is bad," he said as he stopped at the official timing tower.

POWER FIGHT IS BACK IN SENATE

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Senate Interstate Commerce committee today reported back to the Senate without recommendation the nominations of the three members of the power commission whose names President Hoover has refused to return to the Senate.

The action was unanimous. It was a preliminary move to have the Senate formally reject the recommendations of the three commissioners, in order to strengthen its court test of the President's authority to retain the commissioners in office.

The nominations were of Chairman Smith and Commissioners Gansaul and Draper.

Several Senators have indicated they will move to strike from an appropriation bill provision for salaries for the three members of the commission.

Italian Paper Says Duce Did Kill Little Child

New York, Feb. 3 (US)—Il Nuovo Mondo, an Italian daily admittedly violently anti-Fascist in policy, publishes a letter, purported to have been smuggled out of Italy, which accuses Premier Mussolini as a hit-and-run driver.

WITNESS NAME WITHHELD
Details given in the letter are somewhat similar to, but not identical with, those related by Major General Smiley Butler in his recent speech, in which he declared Mussolini's automobile had struck a child.

Editors of the Italian daily would not permit Universal service to view the letter. They also withheld the writer's name, saying they feared harm would come to him if it were revealed. They said only that the letter was written in a city in the Province of Tuscany on September 16, 1929, and that the accident cited happened September 14.

IL DUCE RECOGNIZED
"Everyone knows about the case in San Quirico, yet no one has the courage to speak of it. I am able to tell you only because I chance to be there. A girl of six years was struck by an automobile coming around the curve at terrific speed. . . . and which, after crushing the child, sped on."

"Divers folk recognized Il Duce as the driver of the car, which contained also two people whom no one recognized. A little later, another car containing police came by and stopped, upon seeing a child badly hurt."

"All present had been cursing Il Duce, but all observed a polite silence before the officers have pulled over and Lazzarini, who stupidly repeated that they recognized Il Duce. They were taken, along with the girl, to Comelio. The child died the next day, but of the men not hide nor hair has been seen since that time."

Ambasciatore De Martino of Italy said in Washington today that he would get the paper and prepare a statement if circumstances warranted.

28 TURKS HANG FOR REVOLT

Menemen, Turkey, Feb. 3 (AP)—The bodies of 28 Turkish Moslem reactionaries swung from gibbets today as a warning from the republic that the days of the caliphate have passed forever.

The condemned men, convicted of leading a revolutionary movement here Dec. 22, were led down from their cells to the gallows, where gypsy hangmen, wearing caps eddy, topped baggy Turkish trousers and scarlet sashes, swung them aloft.

FEW SEE EXECUTIONS.
Because of the martial law which has been in effect since the revolt, citizens were kept in their homes until 8 a. m. and there were almost no witnesses to the executions beyond a few officials. An occasional scream could be heard from women peeping from behind shuttered windows, however, and with the advance of day shuddering crowds passed the gruesome scene.

Seven persons had their death sentences commuted at the last moment to 24 years imprisonment. Two others, terrified at the approach of their hour of doom, died of heart disease.

Besides those condemned to die in the ensuing trials, 41 deviants, priests and their activities must serve sentences of from three to 24 years at hard labor for clandestine religious practices.

PRISONS CROWDED.
The Moslem prisons are crammed with 300 suspects awaiting trial by military courts on the same charges.

Sheik Esmad, aged 96 and known as the Rasputin of Turkey because of his unusual power with women, was one of those condemned to die by dying a natural death in his cell last week. His son, the old priest Ali, aged 64, was one of those hanged today.

The bodies were to hang before the eyes of Menemen all today. They were to be cut down at sunset and buried.

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—The belief that President Hoover will be the Republican candidate to succeed himself in 1932 was expressed today by Alan Fox, his personal friend and political adviser.

Speaking before the school of politics of the Women's National Republican Club, Mr. Fox said:

"People are saying that Hoover is not going to be re-nominated. Any President can be re-nominated who wants to be. Of course, he will be re-nominated. His election depends on the state of business. If business improves during the coming year, as there is every reason to believe it will, he will very easily be re-elected.

"Jumping on the President has always been a popular sport. President Hoover has such great qualities that I have no fear of slight fluctuations in the current of popularity."

Jamaica Waits to Welcome Wales

Kingston, Jamaica, Feb. 3 (AP)—Jamaica today was to extend one of the greatest welcomes of its history to the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, who were due to arrive aboard the steamer Droppa.

Bishop Sees Protestantism 'Bankrupt'

Chicago, Feb. 3 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, installed today as Episcopal Bishop of the Chicago diocese, said Protestantism is "stranded with complete bankruptcy" but added that the whole Christian world was "swinging back to the center of the catholic faith and order and worship."

"Protestantism has wavered in the unshaken virtues of a moral universe," he said in his charge to the convention of the diocese.

"The religious order is emerging from a chaos of wild speculation and unbridled license."

"Modern science is halting the sanity and solidity of the great religious convictions of the race," he said.

In addressing the clergy he said: "You are supposed to have the learning of a scholar, the logic of a lawyer, the peripatetic energy of a family doctor, the equanimity of an artist, the wizardry of a financier, the popularity of a rosiarian and the sanctity of a saint—all for the salary of an apartment house janitor."

GANGSTER TRIO FOUND SLAIN

East St. Louis, Feb. 3.—Apparently shot down with the same ruthlessness and deliberation that characterized the Chicago St. Valentine's Day massacre, the bodies of three men, filled with machine gun bullets, were found in a highway ditch 10 miles north of here today.

The scene of the killing, authorities said, was the gambling house of "Wide Open" Smith in the center of the city. A dozen calls were made to the police early yesterday morning, when prolonged shooting roused the residents.

By the time detective squad cars had arrived all was quiet and the officers departed. It was not until today when the bodies, carefully concealed with brush, were found that the extent of the crime was revealed.

The dead, presumably the victims of a new outbreak of the smoldering gambling war here and in St. Louis, included David Hoffman, owner of a jewelry store; Joseph P. Carroll, a handkerchief maker, and associate of gangsters; and a young man of about 20 who was not identified.

as nourishing as meat

More Digestible

There simply isn't any food more healthful—more nourishing—than Mueller's Macaroni. Made from farina—the heart of the wheat—it contains all the body-building, growth-promoting, energizing elements that are to be had in meat. But Mueller's Macaroni is easily digestible. It is tasty, too—so delicious that every member of the family will appreciate it. Ask your grocer for Mueller's. He has it or can get it for you.

American housewives often overlook macaroni products. Follow the directions on the Mueller package and boil for 9 minutes, though 10 or 2 minutes more may be allowed for extra tenderness.

Women Ask New Aid for Criminals

Would Increase Rehabilitation Methods to Help Real Penitents

By ANN ARDEN

Quoting Arthur Brisbane and his stand on crime prevention, Mrs. Frank C. Stetson, chairman of the department of social welfare in the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, advocates rehabilitation methods for criminals.

In a recent editorial in the Boston Evening American, Brisbane said: "There are thousands in prison, who with a better chance to youth would have been useful citizens; there are thousands living in luxury who would have been in prison if their childhood had been the same as the average convict's childhood."

With this as the basis of her argument, Mrs. Stetson maintains that there are "few penitents from the penitentiaries; few reformed from the reformatories; trained criminals from the training schools."

The world now believes that doors of evil need no rigid training treatment, Mrs. Stetson states, and in her monthly message to the more than 100,000 clubwomen of the commonwealth urges the study of human beings particularly those behind "prison walls."

She says: "The study of human beings is the foremost subject at present. Colleges are arranging courses for the future generation to master; crime commissions, national, state and local, are devising human behavior from birth until death; much stress is placed upon the influence of heredity and environment."

SCHOOL OF CRIME How much truth in what someone has written, "A reform school is a school of crime, which never takes a vacation, never lets out and graduates only 'professionals'."

At the White House conference, comes the request that more consideration be given to the needs of the handicapped child.

The right to an vigorous body as medical skill can give; the right to an education for those who understand; the right to grow up in a world that does not aim at the right to identical privileges and identical responsibilities with other children; the right to comradeship; the right to stay—these belong to all children."

S. commissioner of immigration, on "Women and Children Who Work"; Clifton C. Mowry, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce, on "The Regulation of Overnight Camps and Lodgings"; Mrs. Leslie B. Cutler, chairman of the New England Council of Health, on "Jury Service for Women"; Judge Emma Fall Schofield on "Laws Women Should Know."

Three-Color Scheme Now Advanced

By ANN ARDEN

BY THIS time you have heard the rumblings of contrast which will dominate the spring mode. Contrast in color, contrast in fabric—two themes that are reiterated in clothes from day to evening. You need not wait for spring to begin this subtle contrasting of costume tones—your mid-season wardrobe will appreciate just such a stimulating touch.

TWO colors are better than one—and three contrasting shades are the first word in chic. It is decidedly smart to combine light and dark shades of the same color—in fact, that combination is having a tremendous vogue in the South.

THE CHIFFON costume pictured carries out the three-tone idea with grace and charm. The skirt is dark blue, circular sections giving it width and animation. The jacket is in baby blue. Its distinctive large puff sleeves are closely shirred at the tops, its snail ties in front. The white chiffon blouse has short sleeves, pearl buttons center front, and a pleated ruff about the V-neckline. The hat is a Watteau model in hemlineless navy blue tulle. Velvet bands the forehead and emerges in a roussette under and over brim at right side.

"A HAT THAT is a hat"—to the great satisfaction of the bill-paying husband—is the prediction for spring. Bows, bands, flowers, and feathers from many birds will, to all indications, adorn our straw bonnets. The familiar Watteau headgear, coy and becoming, is more than meagerly represented in first showings.

SUBTLE ENSEMBLING is the mode of the day. And the smart effects one can accomplish by inspired color harmonizing may be augmented by ingenious combining of like details. A perforated felt hat, for example, is subtly complemented by footwear having perforations for trimming interest, in the new scheme of things.

THE UNBROKEN presence of plants in spring fashions is a foregone conclusion. Already we have seen more than half a hundred hints to that effect. An interesting crepe frock noted recently had as an intriguing feature, bandings of box plants at bolero-hem, neckline, sleeves and skirt hem.

"You must keep Youth!" warns LEW AYRES

What type do I most admire?" asks Lew Ayres. "The type doesn't matter much—if she has that radiant charm I can resist—youth."

Wiley Is Put to Work in Prison Laundry Sorting Clothes

Henry C. Wiley of Somerville, recently sentenced to State prison for larceny of more than $500.00 from estate of which he was trustee, was put to work in the prison laundry today—sorting clothes.

It is probable he will remain at this task for some time.

Wiley's first day was spent as a customary, in solitary confinement. Then he went through the routine interrogatory.

Miss Olive Morgan, 21, Lynn choir singer and Sunday school teacher, appeared in Lynn court today and was given a suspended jail sentence of nine months on being found guilty of larceny.

The girl was placed on probation for one year during which time she must make restitution of $2388 to former employers, the Gregory, Read Bros. Co., from whom the money was obtained through padded payrolls. A charge of forgery against her was dismissed.

Judge John Actor, who heard the case, characterized Miss Morgan as being exceedingly cool and self-possessed. He told the court she had spent the money on outings with girls and denied having any boy friends.

According to the evidence, Miss Morgan, who lives in Jackson st., Lynn, was employed as a payroll checker at a salary of $15 a week. Two years ago she began to pad the rolls, but told Judge Rowe she stopped last August, determined to do no more.

However, in December Miss Morgan put on the rolls the names of two girls, former employees, and a checkup revealed her act.

Paris, Feb. 3 (AP)—A Geneva dispatch to the Paris edition of the New York Herald-Tribune today announced the death Monday of Mrs. Robert Spotswood Pinhey, daughter of George Pinney Putnam, founder of the New York publishing house. Her given name was Victoria.

CHOIR SINGER
SPARED JAIL

Miss Olive Morgan, 21, Lynn choir singer and Sunday school teacher, appeared in Lynn court today and was given a suspended jail sentence of nine months on being found guilty of larceny.

The girl was placed on probation for one year during which time she must make restitution of $2388 to former employers, the Gregory, Read Bros. Co., from whom the money was obtained through padded payrolls. A charge of forgery against her was dismissed.

Judge John Actor, who heard the case, characterized Miss Morgan as being exceedingly cool and self-possessed. He told the court she had spent the money on outings with girls and denied having any boy friends.

According to the evidence, Miss Morgan, who lives in Jackson st., Lynn, was employed as a payroll checker at a salary of $15 a week. Two years ago she began to pad the rolls, but told Judge Rowe she stopped last August, determined to do no more.

However, in December Miss Morgan put on the rolls the names of two girls, former employees, and a checkup revealed her act.

Van Sweringens Open Fight for N. E. Line

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Providence, Feb. 3.—The eyes of the railroad world began to focus here today. Here, in the smallest State in the nation, will be unleashed the day is over a titanic struggle among four great railroad systems to conquer New England.

O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringens, mystic figures of modern railroading, who have grown in 10 years from ownership of a shoe-stitching railroad line to be the most dramatic, colorful and aggressive characters since the pioneer days of John Jacob Astor and "Jim" Hill, will appeal to New England sentiment to "let us come in with the Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate."

Their plan to acquire ownership of certain New England roads, to acquire operating rights in others and to tie them into a system that will supply direct, uninterrupted railroad connections with fast-flying systems from Canada to the Gulf and from Atlantic to the Pacific will be set forth in detail at the annual dinner of the Providence Chamber of Commerce.

FIRST GUN OF BATTLE
Gov. Norman S. Case will welcome the assemblage of 500 persons, including representatives of the New England States, the major railroads, Chambers of Commerce and vast business interests, here to hear the rumbling of the first gun of battle among the railroad moguls.

It is expected the Van Sweringens, to be represented by General Counsel William H. Boyd, will propose for New England the six-part railroad system already advocated by the Providence Chamber of Commerce. This system contemplates: Entry of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National over the Maine Central and Bangor & Aroostook to Bangor and then to Boston and the Boston & Maine to Boston.

Entry of the Pennsylvania over the Shore Line and of the Baltimore & Annapolis to the New Haven Line of the New Haven.

Entry of the New York Central over the Boston & Albany, as at present.

Entry of the Van Sweringens' Chesapeake and Ohio-Nickel Plate into the heart of New England over the Boston & Maine, and to Providence on the south by construction of the long-since abandoned Southern New England Railroad from Worcester and Palmer.

PENNSYLVANIA CHALLENGED
By this plan, the young, aggressive Van Sweringens challenge the supremacy of the powerful Pennsylvania interest.

The Pennsylvania is understood to have acquired a dominating influence over the New Haven and the Boston & Maine and unless this hold is broken by the sensational challenge of the Cleveland brothers, the Pennsylvania will have the controlling grip upon the future of New England's railroad policies and services.

In their plans for dividing the New England into four consolidated systems of historic magnitude, the railroad moguls purposely omitted New England from their considerations. They had enough problems, dealings and bickerings to confound them.

Meanwhile, the Pennsylvania has gone ahead with its stock acquisitions in the Boston & Maine and the New Haven, with the result that the Baltimore & Ohio and the Van Sweringens are left without sidewater connections in the most important harbors of New England north of New York.

TWO-SIDED OPPOSITION
The Van Sweringens will attempt to overcome a twofold opposition when they let their big guns of campaign bell toll. They will have to overcome the Pennsylvania's deep-laid plans for control over the Boston & Maine and New Haven. They will have to contend against the sentiment of New England, which seems to favor a merger of the Boston & Maine and the New Haven and of the Maine Central and Bangor & Aroostook into a single New England railroad unit, free to dicker with the outside railroads in the future to secure the best terms as to rates and service.

The Providence Chamber of Commerce has been asserting that New England should not be left to the "mercy" of a single alien line like the Pennsylvania. It has been arguing also that the New England lines should cease to be dead-end lines which they should link themselves with competing lines, affording several routes to the South and West and which will supply steamship services across the Atlantic and to Latin America.

Soviet Paper Scoffs at U. S. Inquiry Plans
Moscow, Feb. 3 (AP)—The newspaper Pravda, which a year ago probably would have denounced the United States for such a proposal for an investigation of charges of forced labor in Russia, today had only ridicule for the project.

Pravda declared that the United States "may fall into the hands of the workers who will punish them with modernity." There is an indirect reference to the trial of several engineers sentenced to prison for espionage.

St. Thomas Sorry to Have Marines Leave
St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Feb. 3 (AP)—Business circles here today expressed concern over an announcement that United States Marines and station ship personnel here would be withdrawn within six months. A recent executive order transferred administration of the Virgin Islands from the Navy to the Interior Department.

The withdrawal will affect the island economically.

3 Die From Poison Liquor in Buffalo
Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 2 (AP)—Poison liquor claimed three lives in Buffalo today. In a rooming house were found the bodies of Mrs. Mary McGraw, 65, housekeeper; William Little, 67, and George Mink, 45, roomers. Death was due to wood alcohol poisoning.

What can be done with Life Insurance (3) Planning an Income for Old Age
SCORER of the all must lay down the burden of the future. The life insurance policy would not, like the "face" of the life insurance policy, be a source of income, however long that period of his life might be.

We need to think actively along these lines. The life insurance policy, however, is a source of income, however long that period of his life might be.

WILL TRY MANY OLD STARS IN NEW POSITIONS

BILL McKECHNIE, SHONO COLLINS, John McGraw and Rogers Hornsby are all getting ready for spring transplanting. The Braves' chief plans to transplant Billy Berger from left field to center. The Red Sox plan to shift the speedy, all-around ace, Jack Rodrock, from the outfield to third base. The Little Napoleon is converting the great Freddie Lindstrom, kingpin third sacker into an outfielder, and Hornsby is going to fielder, and Hornsby is going to move the veteran, Hack Wilson, from his old center field belt into the left pasture and swing Cuyler over from right to center.

The shifting of Berger from left to center is done to make room in left field for Wally's old Les Anderson, who could not get the long throws to first away as big league position and was as nervous and worried as a one-arm paper-lunger with the latest move over to second in center field. Babe Ruth will be at short and Bill Sweeney will be at Phil Toots. Phil Toots has been picked to left field. Phil has been picked to left field. Phil has been picked to left field.

Hornsby's shifting of Wilson from center to left is done with the idea of prolonging Hack's career as a home run clincher. Wilson will not have as much ground to cover in the left pasture as he did at center. In center field Hack's short plan legs had to be twisted fast and long and he will have it easier in left field. Of course, if the great hitter cannot adjust himself to left field he will go back to his old berth in center.

LITTLE NAPOLEON HAS THE HABIT
McGraw's transplanting of Freddie Lindstrom, one of the great, third sacker of the game to the outfield, is the most drastic of all the 1931 shifts. The Little Napoleon is noted for his drastic moves. In his transplanting stunts he has been most successful.

Remember how the baseball world shuddered when McGraw took Roger Bresnahan from center field and put him behind the bat? Old Babe had broken into the game as a pitcher and became a third baseman. But as center fielder and lead off man the Giants he appeared in his right place.

McGraw put him behind the bat and Bresnahan became noted for something else besides being the first big league catcher to wear shipshape.

Among other shifts made by McGraw was the switching of Buck Herzog, for second to third, the remaining of Fred Merkle from an ordinary catcher into a dazzling outfielder, and the inducing of Hank Gowdy to throw away his first baseman's glove and become a high class backup.

Then recall how the Giants leader shifted Frankie Frisch 12-9 second to third when Heinie Zimmerman faded out and then replaced the Fordham Phil at second after securing Heinie Zim.

In 1921 with the veteran Johnny Rawlings, former firster, at second, and Frisch at third, McGraw won the pennant and had an even better infield the next year when he secured Groh and placed Frankie back to second.

McGraw's decision to make an outfielder out of Lindstrom was made because of Fred's slitting back and the purchase of Johnny Verzes on the Coast. The Coast scout says Verzes is a 1931. McGraw has another ace in "his sleeve in Urban" Jack Pickering who comes up from the Birmingham.

TEACHERS BY RECORD FOR PEN COACHES

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 3.—Pennsylvania athletic coaches will be faculty teachers and will be paid no more than other faculty members under a new sports plan announced by President Thomas S. Gates of the University of Pennsylvania.

A pamphlet issued containing President Gates' statement filed 23 pages. Notable features were the expression of a hope whereby in the future the importance of gate receipts might be minimized, spring football practice and any season work abolished, training table shortened, and a curfew increase in the attention paid to immaterial sports ought.

Contracts of coaches now employed by the university will be allowed to run out. At the expiration of the contracts, coaches will be elected as faculty members and will receive only the pay of such teachers.

No plan was given in the pamphlet whereby the various successful coaches, who commonly receive far higher salaries than the faculty members, are to be in the future to coach University of Pennsylvania.

President Gates of the university, not widely known, is the center of the college sports spotlight as a result of the issuance of the pamphlet. President Gates, a former member of notable international banking firms, resigned from those firms to work at University of Pennsylvania without salary.

BLAKE SET RECORD FOR R. A. A. GAMES

By BILL CONWELL

A world's indoor track record will tremble when Eddie Blake of the R. A. A. crumbers at the start of the special 600-yard run of the Boston Athletic Association track games on the evening of Feb. 14.

Today Blake starts an intensive training drive for his 600-yard sprint, less than two weeks away. And when he breaks the tape, provided he wins the race, Blake has high hopes that his time will shatter the world record figure of 1 minute 11.8 seconds, made by Alan Helfrich.

Blake did his first in the Pro 40 of the K. C. games at the Garden, beating four splendid quartermiles in the ramble. His speed is there for a 600-yard record run, and now he will work to build the extra bit of stamina for the R. A. A. event.

Just who will face Blake is not decided yet, though it is questionable whether Bernie McCafferty will run in the special race as well as his regular anchor leg for the Holy Cross one mile team. The probable biggest meet Boston College is in a one mile relay at the R. A. A. meet, and as R. A. A. very fast mile team McCafferty may be forced to do his best running in the relay which would hurt his chances in a special race.

SCHMELING IN HOTEL RAMPUS

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Max Schmeling, the heavyweight champion, is able to protect himself in a hotel lobby as well as in the ring.

In discussing the pugilist's escape from the Hotel Commodore yesterday a man described as a promoter, Schmeling took "in by the collar, Jacob asserted, and hurried him out to the street, where the doorman took care of him.

"The aren't afraid to accept service or legal papers," Jacob asserted, "but Schmeling can't stick out his hand to any stranger who approaches him. Somebody might stick a penknife in his hand."

Ruth Leaving for Camp on Saturday

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—"Babe" Ruth, Mrs. Ruth, their daughter Julia, and Mrs. Ruth's sister, Mrs. C. J. Elliott, will leave New York Saturday by boat for Miami, Fla., where Ruth will start his training for the 1931 baseball campaign.

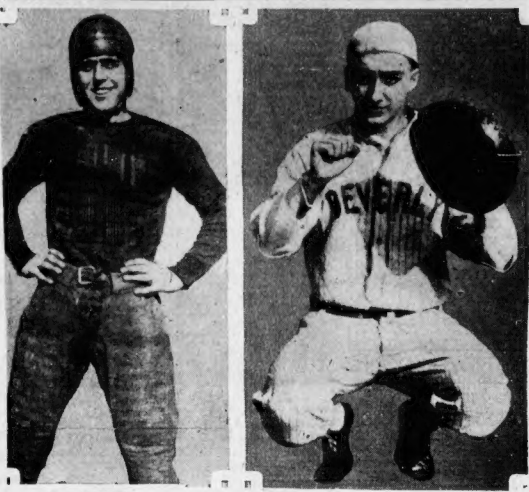

The Babe is not due at the Yankees' camp until around the first of March, but already starts early, loosening up his swing on Florida golf courses before the start of the training grind proper.

Wilson Signs With Cubs for $37,500

Chicago, Feb. 3 (AP)—The actual figure on Hack Wilson's 1931 Cub contract is not common property, but baseball's current home run champion will be getting plenty, even if it is only a part of what the everyday players have guessed for.

Today's quotations ranged from $30,000 to $37,500, striking $35,000 in between. The lowest quotation would represent a substantial increase over the $22,500 Wilson was said to have received last season.

BROTHERS, ALL CAPTAINS

ARTHUR CICCETTI, ALBERT CICCETTI, ALFRED CICCETTI

THE THREE CICCETTI BROTHERS of Beverly high after something unique in sports. Each is captain of a sports team. Arthur heads the football team, Alfred the cross-country squad and Albert the basketball team. Alfred and Albert are twins. All are seniors. As far as it known there is no other instance where three brothers have captained sports teams the same year.

LEVINSKY TO TRAIN HERE

King Levinsky, Chicago light heavyweight, is in town to complete training for his thorough bout with Jack Gagnon of Alton which will be staged at the Boston Garden on Friday night.

Levinsky, a colorful puncher, is confident he will add Gagnon to his long list of easy victims. Jack points to the fact he stepped Tuffy Griffiths and plans to head Levinsky's surprise.

Low Bruellier of Worcester and Sammy Baker of New York will be in the thorough semifinal. Jack McCarthy of Roxbury and Pat O'Farrell of South Boston will meet in an eight-round match.

The four series of bouts in the diamond belt tournament will be staged at the Arena on Saturday night under the direction of the Irish-American A. C. There will be contests at 126, 135, 147, 160 and 175 pounds and in the heavyweight division.

B. U. Frosh Six Plays Exeter Tomorrow

Boston University's freshmen hockey travels to New Hampshire tomorrow to battle the Exeter Excels at the Exeter rink. The prep school boys have a strong outfit and will be favored to win.

Holy Cross Relay Team After Record

New York, Feb. 3 (AP)—Bernie McCafferty, crack quarter-mile from Holy Cross, has decided not to run in the "Millrose 600," one of the classics of the Milrose A. A. games to be held here Saturday night. Instead, McCafferty will confine his competition to running the anchor leg for Holy Cross' grid relay team.

A new world's indoor record is at stake with McCafferty confining his attention exclusively to the relay. Harvard set the present world's one mile relay record of 3:30.55 in beating Holy Cross last March.

The Mystery of Geraldine

By ANTHONY ABBOT

CHAPTER I

Mrs. Maskell

"DO YOU BELIEVE in justice, Doctor Maskell?"

"Yes," he replied boldly.

"And do you want to see justice done in this case?"

"Yes, certainly. But what is justice?"

"You mean that Thatcher Colt killed his wife?"

"Yes, he did. He was convicted of the murder of his wife, Geraldine, and sentenced to the gallows."

"But last day, they will show your head and all your trouble, and you will be a champion, praying for your soul. On the other side will be a guard."

"Here is what will happen to you, Doctor. I'll try you in court and you'll be found guilty."

"Sure as hell. For a short time you will be in a cell at Sing Sing. In the death house. On that last day, they will show your head and all your trou-

SAFE-CRACKERS MUST GO, SAYS HULTMAN

Police Ordered to Round Up and Rid Boston of Professional Burglars

Orders to rid the city of professional safe-crackers, who have made their appearance here, were issued today by Police Commissioner Hultman through Superintendent Crowley.

Members of the flying squad, which patrols the city in motor cars at night, are instructed to carry shotguns and to be prepared to use them.

All other night officers are ordered to carry their revolvers in their overcoat pockets, ready for use.

All poolrooms and other places where idlers congregate are to be searched for suspects, all of whom are to be taken to headquarters and questioned. If they cannot give satisfactory accounts of themselves, they will be charged with vagrancy and held in jail.

Close watch will be kept on all places where there are safes. The orders resulted from the blowing of a safe yesterday at the Colonial Coal Co., Whittier st., Boston, where nitroglycerine was used, indicating professional work.

It was the first safe-blowing job in Boston in several years.

Mayor Charles D. Johnson of Auburn, N. Y., son of Thomas Mott Osborne, who called for a general prison reform in an address in Boston yesterday.

"You are going to be electrocuted, because you're guilty. That's final. So why don't you take your medicine like a man? If you don't, remember one thing—I'm going to be in the audience and I'm going to be close enough to kick you in the face."

Two Maskell features registered a shiver. He stood up and began peeling around in a fit of rage, and for a moment thought his collapse was near.

But then he was told that the command of his mind, though he did not want to, was to obey the detail of questioning, weeped desolately in his effort to cover the ground.

"Theater Colt killed his wife," he said.

"No one long this grim inquiry would proceed and the Commissioner was keeping his own counsel. At cock-crow, the street from the great of a granite quarry when a window cable broke, so that the truck slid down onto the tracks and overturned.

James Williams of Robertson st., West Quincy, driver of the truck, landed safely.

Widow, 77, Dying

After Slashing Self

Mrs. Mary Haley, 77-year-old widow, is dying at Peter Den, Brigham Hospital from wounds which police say were self-inflicted at her home in Jamaica way early today.

The woman, living with her daughter, Mrs. Rosemond Rounds, had been under the care of a nurse for several weeks. After receiving her breakfast the nurse left the room for a few minutes and upon returning found Mrs. Haley with a razor blade in her throat. A razor blade was found in the woman's bed.

Girl Shooting Case Up Feb. 17

While Philip Dooley faced charges of assault with a dangerous weapon in Roxbury Court today, Geraldine Carvey, 22-year-old telephone operator, lay dangerously near death in City Hospital.

The girl, who gave an account of her shooting, said that she was in a rooming apartment at Westway, 141 1/2 Westway, when she shot Dooley.

Dooley, who lives in Greenwood ave., Hyde Park, was arrested several days ago. He pleaded not guilty and was released in bonds of $200.

Judge Hayden today continued his case until Feb. 17.

At the time of his arrest Dooley said he was not married but police claim he married Marian Mally of Stoughton, 5 years ago, and is the father of a four-year-old child.

Girl Charges She Posed as Col. Berger's Wife

Helped Him in Business on Promise of $25,000, Her Suit Asserts

Col. John S. Berger, erstwhile managing director of the New England State Century of Progress Exposition, considered a wife a handy accessory in the making of business contacts, according to the suit of Miss Maude Donnelly, beauty shop proprietor, who charges she was hired by him to pose as such.

Miss Donnelly has filed a suit in Suffolk superior court for $100,000 against Berger, asserting that he failed to pay the $25,000 stipulated when their agreement was made.

In her suit, Miss Donnelly declares that she "did hold herself as the defendant's wife in many ways," and that she met and entertained various persons and assisted in obtaining contracts from corporations in connection with the exposition.

In her capacity, the young woman charges, she traveled to Chicago and other places with Berger. Last December, she asserted, she was discharged by Berger without justifiable cause and without being given the right to carry out her agreement.

Except for small sums during the course of her work, she was paid nothing, she claims.

SEND EXPORT GRAIN VIA CANADA

Atty. Parker of Washington Tells the I. C. C. Boston is Discriminated Against

American rail lines are impeded in their competition with Montreal through the fact that the rate on grain for export through American ports is based on that of the high-cost terminal of New York.

George H. Parker, an attorney of Washington, made the assertion today before Interstate Commerce Commissioners in the Chamber of Commerce building, where a fight is being waged in pit bull fashion on an equal footing with New York.

RATERS HIT BOSTON

In the face of many objections to compel for New York interest, Parker brought out in a lengthy and technical discussion that there is no feasible rate of discrimination against Boston in favor of New York.

Based on the average freight rate for grain for New York, he said, "the cost of lightening at New York is only about one-half of the cost of lightening at Boston."

This is greater than the total distance from the New Haven from New York to Boston, and greater than the total distance from Boston to the high cost terminal at the Hudson River.

IMPEDES RAILWAYS

"It is probably not too much to say that the American rail lines are impeded in their competition with Montreal through the fact that the rate on grain for export through American ports is based on the high cost terminal at New York."

STOCKS ARE NARROW

New York, Feb. 3.—The closing on the New York Stock Exchange today was with a first loss. Price changes were mostly narrow. Rallying tendency in the last hour moved the market out of a rut. Although trading was still dull, Algonquin, Johnson & Johnson, American Can, Bethlehem Steel, Allied Chemical and Eastman Kodak, Auburn Auto sold 1/2 share, approximately 1,200,000 shares.

BOND SELLING STOKES
An encouraging development was the drying up of liquidation of the United States government bonds in the bond division, but that the market is slowly beginning to bud the inert share market.

SOFT SPOTS
Soft spots were Hudson Motor, Frisco, Rock Island, and U. S. Industrial Alcohol off 2 to 4 points. Hudson Motor declined on publication of its 1930 statement showing net of only 20 cents a share which failed to include a large charge-off for development taken directly from surplus. The stock received a low record for little more than shares.

The motor trade, however, expects gradual improvement this month. Output may reach about 1,000,000 units against about 175,000 in January.

ALCOHOL AT LOW
Prices and stock market reflected apprehension over the dividends which are scheduled for consideration at the directors' meeting tomorrow. Frisco, Rock Island, and U. S. Industrial Alcohol were down more than half the current annual dividend in 1930 and 1929.

U. S. Industrial Alcohol was sold in expectation of a dividend of 10 cents a share, but the market was not willing to pay for the stock at the low price. The stock was at the low price in 1930.

Commission houses still described the prospects of solidus bonus legislation as an ominous cloud over the preferential factor. There was per se little inclination to be attracted over the prospects of a sudden change of security market, but it was to offer some $2,000,000,000 in new bonds all of which are to be sold.

The condition statement of week-end reporting member banks showed further reduction of cash balances on securities, indicating a decrease for January of about $100,000,000. Other commercial banks, however, showed an increase of $400,000,000.

On the other hand, the January commercial inventory record was distinctly unimpressive, showing an even larger gain than normal for the first month of the year. The condition remained stationary.

A Blow to Americanism

Nye Committee Activities an Indictment of Republican Party

Every time it votes a new appropriation for the Nye committee, the United States Senate squanders the people's money upon a rapping expedition to undermine the people's Constitution and violate their sovereignty in the several states.

Senator Moses of New Hampshire exposed the expensiveness of this expedition when he read into the Congressional Record the itemized expense account of the Nye committee since its creation last April.

This account shows that the activities of this committee and its staff of hired snipers have already cost this country $95,503 and Chairman Nye is asking for $50,000 more.

This evidence explodes the theory that the special committee headed by "the North Dakota traveler" investigates at less cost to the public than the Senate's standing committee on privileges and elections.

The truth is that the Nye committee owes its very existence to the refusal of the committee on privileges and elections to extend its investigation of senatorial elections beyond the limits prescribed by law.

In its standing committee on privileges and elections the Senate has at its disposal a lawful and competent agent to conduct a lawful and effective inquiry whenever a senator or a candidate for the Senate files a contest.

This committee has functioned in the past. It can function in the future. It is the proper committee to pass upon all questions involving the integrity of senatorial elections.

No special committee is required to supplement the orderly and lawful activities of the standing committee on privileges and elections.

The existence of the Nye committee is peculiarly an indictment of the Americanism of the party in power in the Senate and the federal government.

The Republican party has become the party of autocracy and bureaucracy.

More democracy is needed in government to protect the rights of the public and compel respect for the Constitution. The nation will be benefited by the return to power of the Democratic party, and the violation of states' rights and popular rights by the Nye committee is one of the good reasons why the Republican party should be removed from place and the Democratic party restored to power.

Our Debt of Honor

Harvard Editors and Adjusted Compensation

The Harvard Crimson attacks the American Legion and the war veterans for asking that the adjusted compensation be paid now instead of waiting twenty years.

With youthful aplomb and self-assurance, its editors say, "Flag waving and war records count for nothing when such an attempt is made to raid the treasury."

Indeed? There was plenty of flag-waving when the young soldiers left for the carnage and disastrous adventure of war and plenty promises of gratitude fell from the tongues of professional politicians and from patrioters whose properties here and whose investments abroad were to be guaranteed by the blood and life of the war veterans.

These war records represent the honor, integrity and valor of America.

If there were no war records to be looked upon with justifiable pride today, there would be no American treasury. America would be a vanquished, subordinate country. The American treasury would be reduced to the status of a collection agency, to collect the taxes, indemnities and reparations from the American people for benefit of the victorious German military machine.

The youthful editors of the Crimson say an harassed and helpless Congress is faced by a nation-wide problem of unemployment "while the veterans want several millions of dollars to put in their pockets right away."

The veterans, in fact, want this obligation paid to them now because they and their families are suffering the pangs of unemployment.

If Congress is harassed by a nation-wide problem of unemployment, let it move toward the solution of that problem by paying its just debt to the war veterans rather than forcing them to the soup-kitchens and the bread-line or to the pauperizing effect of the debt.

The money given them will not lie idle in their pockets. It will be put into circulation and then restore a general buying power in every city, town and hamlet in this country which is necessary to revive business and dissipate business uncertainty.

It must be remembered, as it is by the older people of the community, that this adjusted compensation is neither a bonus, nor a gratuity nor a gift.

It represents a legally attempted attempt on the part of the Government to compensate the veterans for the economic loss they suffered by being taken from their homes, businesses and employments to serve in the military for 51 a day.

The national Government expects the public to pay its tax bills at least once a year. It should pay its own debts promptly instead of waiting twenty years, especially when these debts are owed to its citizens who risked their lives to maintain and win the Government.

HE'S OUTGROWN THEM

By NELSON HARDING

Still confined in narrow quarters
On the steep bank of a river,
West Point long since has outgrown
Its restricting reservation.

Land required for expansion,
Greater scope for modern training
Should be added by the Congress
Without more procrastination.

Listen, World! We Fail Life

By ELSIE ROBINSON
Life Doesn't Fail Us

LIFE DOESN'T fail us.

We fail Life.

Life is always giving us chances to grow.

We are always seeking chances to escape.

Life, that great jungle, with its infinite adventure.

Lie before you.

Those a few pictures may be yours.

But you must pay a price for them.

Anything that lives must pay a price for living.

Even the turnip, painfully forcing its tiny shoots and roots.

Through the hard soil, must pay a price for living.

Even the wild birds, building pretty nests in trees.

Swinging dangerously through storms, must pay a price for living.

And you, the greatest animal.

You can have almost anything you want out of life.

If you're willing to pay the price.

You can have riches—

And power and wisdom—

And happiness and beauty—

And popularity and adventure—

And the greatest gift of all—love—

If you're willing to pay the price for them.

The price is something that's far harder to get or give than money.

The price is a part of yourself—

A hindering part of yourself.

If you want the fullness and beauty of life—

You must pay for it by the sacrifice of your own laziness or impatience—

Your own cowardice or conceit—

Your own dishonesty or spitefulness—

You think that Life is holding you back—

But Life isn't holding you back—

These are the things that are holding you back.

These things in yourself.

Stop and think—

Think honestly, with all the courage you possess—

Think of the luck you didn't have—

Why didn't you have it?

Was it someone else's fault that you didn't have it?

Did Life keep it from you?

Or did you, yourself, keep it from you?

Luck and opportunity were there for you to have.

As they're for every man to have—

But when it came right down to making the bargain—

Were you willing to pay the price?

Life doesn't fail us.

We fail Life.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE

Greenwich Village Is Passing

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Greenwich Village is almost completely shorn of its Bohemianism these days. What there is left is faked for the tourist. Ornate new apartment buildings with their up-town prices have forced out the shillies and romantic dreamers.

The smoked and sandaled veterans have been ousted by the "artistic colonies" springing up in the suburbs.

Village "types" today are mostly commercially conscious schemers with pretexts for a week at the Palace instead of a deathless canvas.

In its halcyon past every tumble-down brick and frame building housed its quota of unconventional folk who mocked the marriage vow. Ladies in Grecian robes and bandeaus sat cross-legged on the floor in the candle light ballyhooing a new aim. Pseudo intellectualism with long hair led lost causes.

Life was dangerously experimental. Each attic was an open house to which drifted the glimmers, hoping for a free round of gin. Now and then an all-night party would end in tragedy as when the gifted Hans Stengel left his guests suddenly to hang himself in a closet one dawn.

It is remarkable that many came out of the Village unscathed. A few talented, of course, were spared by their shrewd mark, but it is surprising how many were able in time to see the utter futility of such an easy-going life and break away.

Novelists of distinction had their brief fling in the shadows of Washington Arch—Sinclair Lewis, Theodore Dreiser, Hendrik Van Loon, Willard Huntington Wright, Henry Meriton Lyon and O. Henry. Also such artists as Robert Henri, Bob Chandler, Ross O'Neill and others.

Perhaps there are a half dozen blocks where the ancient Village once thrived, but generally speaking, when the go-getter moved in, the dreamer moved out. The alley theater, the Catholic cellar and the futuristic garage are, too, a fading memory.

Corridor in circulation again. Smart quarters are clad in it and

New Home Markets

Prosperity Opportunities Here

Prosperity in the United States could be revived quickly by opening up new markets.

However, with the whole world depressed, the recent search for additional outlets for goods has been fruitless.

But here, within our own gates, vast new markets await cultivation.

Millions of less fortunate Americans, even during prosperous times, lacked purchasing power to share adequately in the good things of modern life.

A major impetus towards prosperity would result from making available to those of our citizens who are under compensated existing products which hitherto only the more affluent folks could afford.

A further reduction in retail prices, thus enhancing the buying power of wages, would help to achieve this program.

The redemption of the wasted life time of unemployed and part-time workers would provide a sound economic basis for such a noteworthy social advancement.

Further extension of the installment plan along sound lines would help to turn the ill-clad and the inadequately fed into buyers.

New and additional employment, resulting from such a program, would lose a stream of purchasing power. It would help to balance the vast potential supply of goods with an adequate demand.

As matters stand, capital, labor and managerial skill are idle because of economic maladjustment.

Yet it is stupid to conclude that there is no need for them as long as the great American cities are cursed with slums.

If there is no housing shortage in the United States, there is, nevertheless, a scarcity of model, modern tenements.

Moreover, until progress is made in what President Hoover has described as the ultimate aim of business—the abolition of poverty in the United States—it will be shameful to talk about the excess capacity of American factories.

It will be ridiculous to assume that we have a glutted labor market, until essential national projects, such as the elimination of railroad grade crossings, the improvement of coast to coast highways, the completion of Boulder Dam, the execution of the program for Mississippi River flood control, and the modernization of public institutional buildings, have been carried out.

It is ironic mockery to speak of overproduction as long as malnutrition and inadequate standards of clothing and shelter persist in some quarters.

In the past, business progressed by enlarging purchasing power through the development of new products, such as automobiles, radios, washing machines, and refrigerators.

Invention of undreamed of devices for convenience and beauty will doubtless heighten the prosperity of the future.

But good times can also be promoted through the widening of the circle of buyers for existing products.

The process of raising the standard of living of poorer classes in agricultural regions of the South and of the submerged folks in the great cities will also strengthen the base of the prosperity of the future.

Good business should proceed hand in hand with wise sociology.

Our Prosperous Roads

We Must Take Care They're Not Snatched From Us

The gross and the net incomes of the Bangor & Aroostook in 1930, a year of general business depression, were the best in the history of this fine old New England railroad.

This fact is well worth recording because it is a source of optimism and of warning.

Senator Wagner of New York observed in this newspaper that business conditions in New England were superior to the rest of the country. A section that weathered the storm best has a sounder fundamental basis from which to stride forth to prosperity.

But optimism should not blur the warning from the sight. The Bangor & Aroostook, like the Boston & Maine and the New Haven, is in that profitable condition which tempts the avarice of railroad security promoters and manipulators.

When they last were prosperous, the Boston & Maine and the New Haven were captured by Wall Street, and they were left as dry as a fallow cow in an Oklahoma drought.

New Englanders are hearing much talk about railroad consolidations. They must be on their guard. They must have continually in mind that these roads have become profitable again under New England management, and that they must be continued as New England institutions owned and operated by men of local pride and interest if New England is to derive the singular advantage of their prosperity.

No Tin Cup for Pensions

Soft-Drink Tax Proposal Should Be Beaten

The Legislature should give short shrift to the plan to impose a special excise tax upon bottled beverages for the purpose of defraying the cost of old-age pensions.

We have at last gotten a form of old-age pensions adopted in this State. Now let us not demean or embarrass our fine old people by going around with a tin cup to catch the pennies for their sustenance.

Our aged people are not confined to the makers or consumers of bottled beverages. They have performed their duty to society in all the trades and professions. They should be the pride and concern of all our people.

The beverage tax is a rank discrimination which holds all the possibility of becoming an arrant nuisance to a particular group of our people.

There is no more logic in imposing this tax upon one group than there would be in imposing a snow-clearance tax upon the makers of gum-dipped overalls.

A general sales tax is just, because it recognizes all industries, all businesses and all groups of our American citizens.

If we are to have a sales tax, let it be a general one rather than a discriminatory excise calculated to handicap an essential industry and to degenerate the humanitarian principle of old-age pensions.
